

CHRIST IS RISEN!

The two disciples recounted what had taken place on the way, and how Jesus was made known to them in the breaking of bread.

While they were still speaking about this, he stood in their midst and said to them, "Peace be with you."

But they were startled and terrified and thought that they were seeing a ghost. Then he said to them, "Why are you troubled? And why do questions arise in your hearts? Look at my hands and my feet, that it is I myself. Touch me and see, because a ghost does not have flesh and bones as you can see I have."

FROM THE DESK OF THE PASTOR

Dear friends in Christ,

Last Week in the homily given for Divine Mercy Sunday, Pope Francis offered a reflection on the mercy of God as shown by his wounds. Christ's wounds have the power to heal us and show us the depth of Christ's mercy. Having encountered God's generous mercy through his Son, we are called, in turn, to be merciful as God has been merciful to us. Here is an excerpt from Pope Francis' homily to reflect upon:

"Together with the peace that rehabilitates us and the forgiveness that lifts us up, Jesus gave his disciples a third gift of mercy: he show them his wounds. By those wounds we were healed (cf 1 Pet 2:24; Is 53:5). But how can wounds heal us? By mercy. In those wounds, like Thomas, we can literally touch the fact that God has loved us to the end. He has made our wounds his own and borne our weaknesses in his own body. His wounds are open channels between him and us, shedding mercy upon our misery. His wounds are the pathways that God has opened for us to enter into his tender love and actually "touch" who he is. Let us never again doubt his mercy. In adoring and kissing his wounds, we come to realize that in his tender love all our weaknesses are accepted. This happens at every Mass, where Jesus offers us his wounded and risen Body. We touch him and he touches our lives. He makes heaven come down to us. His radiant wounds dispel the darkness we carry within. Like Thomas, we discover God; we realize how close he is to us and we are moved to exclaim, "My Lord and my God!" (Jn 20:28). Everything comes from this, from the grace of receiving mercy. This is the starting-point of our Christian journey. But if we trust in our own abilities, in the efficiency of our structures and projects, we will not go far. Only if we accept the love of God, will we be able to offer something new to the world.

And that is what the disciples did: receiving mercy, they in turn became merciful. We see this in the first reading. The Acts of the Apostles relate that "no one claimed private ownership of any possessions, but everything they owned was held in common." (4:32). This is not communism, but pure Christianity. It is all the more surprising when we think that those were the same disciples who had earlier argued about prizes and rewards, and about who was the greatest among them (cf Mt 10:37; Lk 22:24). Now they share everything; they are "of one heart and soul" (Acts 4:32). How did they change like that? They now saw in others the same mercy that had changed their own lives. They discovered that they shared the mission, the forgiveness and the Body of Jesus, and so it seemed natural to share their earthly possessions. The text continues: "There was not a needy person among them." (v 34). Their fears had been dispelled by touching the Lord's wounds, and now they are unafraid to heal the wounds of those in need. Because there they see Jesus. Because Jesus is there, in the wounds of those in need.

Dear sister, dear brother, do you want proof that God has touched your life? See if you can stoop to bind the wounds of others. Today is the day to ask, "Am I, who so often have received God's peace, his mercy, merciful to others? Do I, who have so often been fed by the Body of Jesus, make any effort to relieve the hunger of the poor?" Let us not remain indifferent. Let us not live a one-way faith, a faith that receives but does not give, a faith that accepts the gift but does not return give it in return. Having received mercy, let us now become merciful. For if love is only about us, faith becomes arid, barren and sentimental. Without others, faith becomes disembodied. Without works of mercy, it dies (cf Jas 2:17). Dear brothers and sisters, let us be renewed by the peace, forgiveness and wounds of the merciful Jesus. Let us ask for the grace to become witness of mercy. Only in this way will our faith be alive and our lives unified. Only in this way will we proclaim the Gospel of God, which is the Gospel of mercy." POPE FRANCIS

Wishing you and your family the joy and peace of the resurrection!

Fr. Johnson

SOCIAL JUSTICE

Creator God,
You gave us this beautiful Earth to be our home
And we have done a poor job of caring for it.

The sun, the moon, the water, the land,
The stars in the sky, the wind and air, fire and Earth,
And all living creatures were meant to be
Instruments of your praise.

And we have stifled these voices.
We have erred in our understanding of our place
Within Creation.

Give us the courage, wisdom, compassion, and
Insight we will need
To engage this moment of crisis with clarity and commitment,

To bring our lives back into alignment with the Earth
That is our common home
And where you are ever-present.

Amen.
